ACTIVITIES

A dedicated student leader is a person who puts her fellow students' aspirations ahead of her own. She is not necessarily the best liked or most popular member of her class. Instead, she realizes she cannot please everyone, and often sacrifices her popularity to do what is best for her peers. The dedicated student leader is not perfect or self-centered. She admits if she is wrong and will try an alternate plan to accomplish a goal. A student leader gives of herself. She may accomplish great things for her school, yet receive no recognition. Her own satisfaction is reward enough.

The dedicated student leader's day is not from 8:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. She gets up at 5:00 a.m. to get bagels for donut morning. She stays after school to decorate the gym for a dance, load soda machines, or count money. In the evenings she runs the football concession stand or works on a homecoming float.

The dedicated student leader is not the teacher's "pet." Although it may seem as if the student leader receives special privileges, this is not necessarily true. Many times a student leader has to be out of class, but she doesn't like to be. She has the same amount of work as her classmates, and what she misses during class must be done on her own time. Teachers expect the student leader to set an example for others. Actually the student leader gets away with less goofing off than the average student because someone is always watching her.

The dedicated student leader is neither tyrannical nor complacent. She constructively criticizes others to help them improve. She compliments participants for doing a good job. The dedicated student leader is a tightrope walker who represents the students' ideas, but does not alienate the administration. She bridges the gap between students and faculty. The dedicated student leader is level headed under pressure, open minded, conscientious, understanding, and self-sacrificing. She is able to make intelligent decisions with foresight, instead of apologizing for her actions after making a mistake. The dedicated student leader has faith in her classmates, hope for the future, and desire to accomplish all that she can. The dedicated student leader is capable of bringing out the best in everyone. Her school spirit encompasses her peers and sparks a flame throughout the school. She pushes others beyond their own limitations to reach their dreams.

Homecoming Plus More

Homecoming at Ritenour is an annual event that is always looked forward to by students, faculty, alumni, and members of the community. But Homecoming in 1980 was even more significant than usual. Not only was the game played against Normandy Homecoming, it was also the traditional Wagon Wheel game and the last home contest for the Husky seniors.

As in the past, Ritenour's Marching Band and Rhythmetes entertained the crowd at halftime. This year they were joined by the Flag Corps and baton twirler Shelly Evans. The colorful halftime activities were highlighted by the presentation of the Homecoming Court and the crowning of Debra Sawyer as Ritenour's 1980 Homecoming Queen.

Even though Ritenour lost the Homecoming Game and the Wagon Wheel, the game, as well as the whole day, proved to be very exciting.

Two Tickets For Paradise

Paradise can mean many different things to many people, but on the night of November 1 it meant Costilow Field House colorfully decorated, refreshments served by the Ritenour Junior Student Council, and music by Gloria Neuland and Hurfrends. In other words it was Ritenour's 1980 Homecoming Dance.

This trip to paradise also included the presentation of the 1980 Homecoming Queen, Debra Sawyer, and Court as they danced to "Sailing," the night's theme song.

Like all good things paradise had to come to an end but not before everyone had spent an evening they would long remember.

"Our Town"

On Friday, November 21 and Saturday, November 22, the Ritenour Drama Club, sponsored by Miss Kathy Haake, presented "Our Town" as its annual fall play. A very serious and emotional play, "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, deals with life, love, and death. It speaks of and to all people through the lives of two families at the turn of the century in Grovers Corners, New Hampshire.

The cast consisted of Ted West as Howie Newsome, Jeff Lesinski as Editor Webb, Jay Davis as Doctor Gibbs, Debbie Fahey as Rebecca Gibbs, Mike Heatley as the stage manager, Diana Green as Myrtle Webb, Tom Chamberlain as Wally Webb, Angelique Overy as Emily Webb, Mark Gray as George Gibbs, Tony Crook as Constable Warren, Tim Pemberton as Sam Craig, Dave Schuey as Professor Willard, Russell Meshell as Si Crowell, Susan Hofmann as Julia Gibbs, Gary Sheets as Simon Stimson, George Graf as Joe Crowell, Roberta Henry as Mrs. Soames, Chris Matsuda as the lady in the box, Lorie Lynch as the lady in the balcony, Ramonda Childers as the baseball player, and Ron Maniscalco as Joe Stoddard.

After many nights of practice and rehearsals the play became a great success and left the audience feeling as if they had been part of "Our Town."

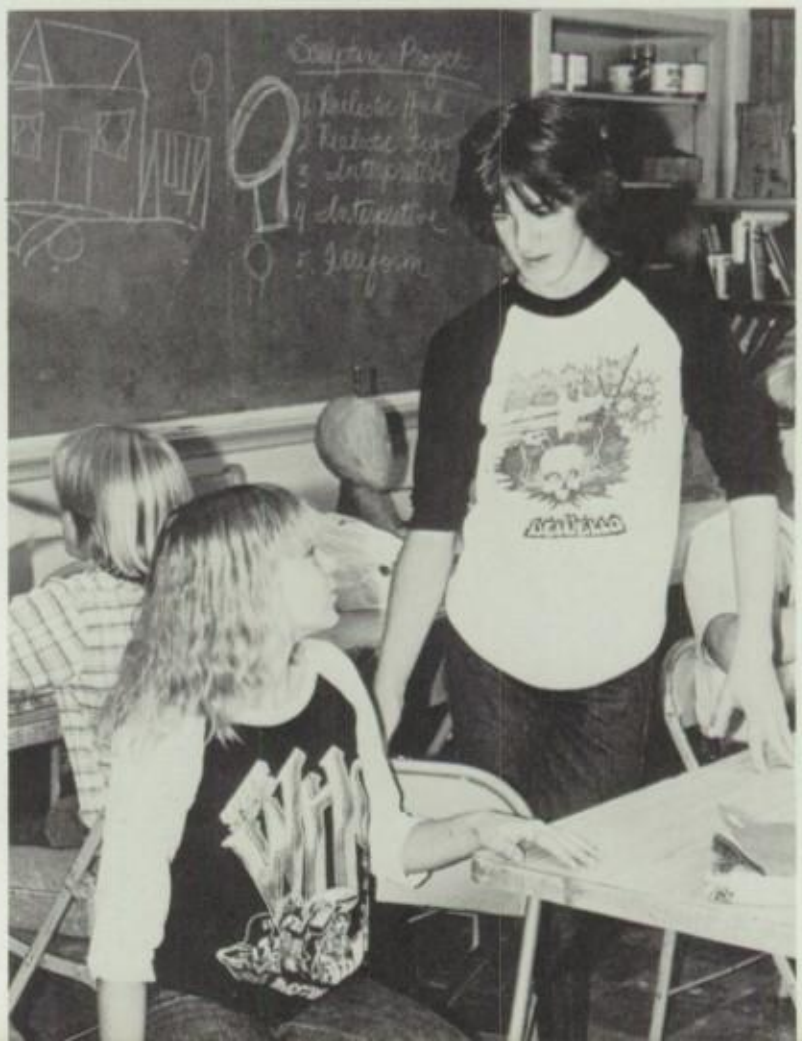
The Weeks That Were

A number of very strange days occurred at Ritenour this year. There were days when students and teachers wore overalls, hats, western clothes, concert t-shirts, and even a day when everyone dressed up in nice clothes. There were days when girls didn't talk to boys and boys didn't talk to girls. All of these days, plus a few more, were part of two special weeks during the school year, Howdy Week and Spirit Week. The purpose of both of these weeks, sponsored by Student Council, was to make everyone at Ritenour feel at home and create some enthusiasm for the wide variety of activities held at the senior high.



Thanks For The 183

A number of people felt that possibly Student Council was being too optimistic in setting a goal of 160 pints for the annual blood drive. After all, 160 pints represents not only a lot of blood but also a large number of caring people. Even though the blood was to be sent, by the Red Cross to area hospitals, some still questioned whether 160 donors could be found.

Fortunately, the optimistic goal proved to be more than justified as Student Council was able to collect 183 pints of blood on March 30.

Dinners For Two

Once again in 1980 Ritenour's Student Council provided an evening of fun, entertainment, and surprises for two groups that are very important to our community, senior citizens and underprivileged children. The Senior Citizens Dinner, held right before Thanksgiving, was a tremendous success due not only to the delicious turkey dinner, the lively songs led by some of the students, but also the show-stealing Minnie Pearl impression performed by one of the guests.

Christmas was a little happier for a number of Ritenour's children thanks to the Underprivileged Children's Dinner. Hamburgers and french fries, every child's favorite meal, followed a Christmas skit performed by the Drama Club. Of course the highlight of the evening was the appearance of Santa Claus bearing gifts for all the kids.

First Hour Fun

First hour at Ritenour means more than just written assignments, discussion, and tests. It also involves painting posters, collecting canned food, buying yearbooks, and decorating classroom doors. All of these activities provided themes for contests sponsored by such groups as Student Council, Pep Club, and Melaureus.

The fun began early in the year with the Melaureus' First Hour Sales Contest. The first hour class that had the largest percentage of students buying a yearbook was declared the winner. This year the honor went to Mrs. Rosaaen's first hour. Next came the Homecoming Poster Contest sponsored by Pep Club. The competition was so close that a tie resulted, from over 20 entries, between Mr. McCann's and Mr. Jackson's classes. Thanksgiving brought the Canned Food Drive sponsored by Student Council. Miss Magill's first hour proved to be the generous winners. Finally, the competition ended with the Christmas Door Decoration Contest also sponsored by Student Council. Miss Johnson's art class demonstrated their talent by winning over numberous other entries.

Not only did these contests promote school spirit, help sell yearbooks, decorate the school during the holidays, but also provided food for needy families.

Women Earn Split For Faculty

For the second straight year the male faculty team lost to the students in the annual Student-Faculty Game held on March 27. Even though the students won by a comfortable 10 point margin, 62-52, the game was very close until the middle of the fourth quarter. In fact, the teachers led throughout much of the contest. Finally though, the small number of players and their old age caught up with the men, and the students pulled away for their victory.

Fortunately for the teachers, the women were able to salvage some respect with an exciting 3 game win in volleyball. After losing the first game, the ladies came back to win 2 straight, including a very close third game by an 18-16 score.

"Guys And Dolls"

In February Ritenour's stage once again came alive with the music, characters, and color of a Broadway musical. This year Frank Loesser's "Guys and Dolls," under the direction of Mr. Byers and Mr. Hirst, was presented by the Ritenour Choir. Completely entertaining the audience, the choir with the help of the Orchestra, directed by Mrs. Stainbrook, performed this fast paced show for 3 evenings and 1 matinee.

The wealth of musical talent at Ritenour became evident as a different cast played the main characters for each performance.

Eighty #1

To the chants of eighty, eighty, eighty-one the senior girls proved that they were number one, at least on the football field by beating the juniors 13-6. Big plays usually highlight a game of this nature and this contest proved to be no exception. All three touchdowns were scored from long range on busted plays.

Montage

This year's art show, better known as Montage, provided a number of art students with an unpleasant but important lesson. The lesson that these inspiring artists discovered, the hard way, was that art judges many times look at not only the quality of the work, but also the way in which it is presented. A number of projects were not even considered for awards because of poor presentation.

Some students did combine high quality with presentation and were rewarded for their efforts. The first place winners in each category were: painting, Cathy Allen; drawing, Bill Thompson; ceramics, Mark Gray; graphics, Christine Hunt; photography, Kelly McFarland; crafts, Beth Birdwell; sculpture, Dennis Philips; and design, Sue Sherman.

Marshmellow Road "Best Act"

The 1981 A.F.S. Talent Show, held on April 24 and 25, proved once again that the job of selecting the "Best Act" award is about as easy as picking the cutest baby in the hospital nursery. Even though the Marshmellow Road group, featuring Darrin Chilton, Patti Bess, and Tracy Smith, was more than deserving of the honor, any of the other acts could have just as easily won.

The annual Talent Show, M.C.'ed by Jeanne Mosley and Mrs. Cathy Nickens, not only gave a number of Ritenour students an opportunity to display their talents, it also raised money to help support Ritenour's Foreign Exchange Program.

"Western Roundup"

Combine tuxedoes from Famous Barr's After Six Shop, boys' clothes from J. Riggins, girls' clothes from Alberts, shoes from Chandlers, and hairstyles from House of Ivie with a number of male and female Ritenour students and what do you have? The annual R.G.A.C. Fashion Show, of course. Add a little music, courtesy of Trish Jennewein, Kevin Robins, Mark Cox, Bob Swain and his father, and the knowledgeable hosts Mrs. Brenda Hirst and Mr. Rick Hirst; and you also have a very entertaining as well as stylish show.

Held on April 8, the theme for this year's Fashion Show was Western Roundup.

"Climb Till Your Dreams Come True"

Prom 1981, held at the Marriott Hotel on May 8, was a festive evening that was enjoyed by everyone in attendance. The Bob Kuban Brass had everyone dancing and singing until midnight. Good food and pleasant conversation helped the time go by all to fast.

As usual the crowning of the Prom Queen, Donna Westhoff, provided the highlight of the evening. Other court members included Tonya Bailey, Janet Paulus, Bonnie Baltz, Marcie Bill, and the 1980 Prom Queen Brenda Johnson.

Sun Shines On Class Of 1981

The evening of June 3 was the end of many long, dedicated hours of hard work for the class of 81. As many dark clouds dampened the day, the graduates were concerned whether the graduation would be held in the stadium or in the fieldhouse. However, at the beginning of the ceremony, the sun shone on the class of 81.

Janet Brooks, Valedictorian, and Susan Bressie, Salutatorian, were recognized during the ceremony.

As the recessional began, the 502 graduates left Ritenour with many memories and many dreams for the future.

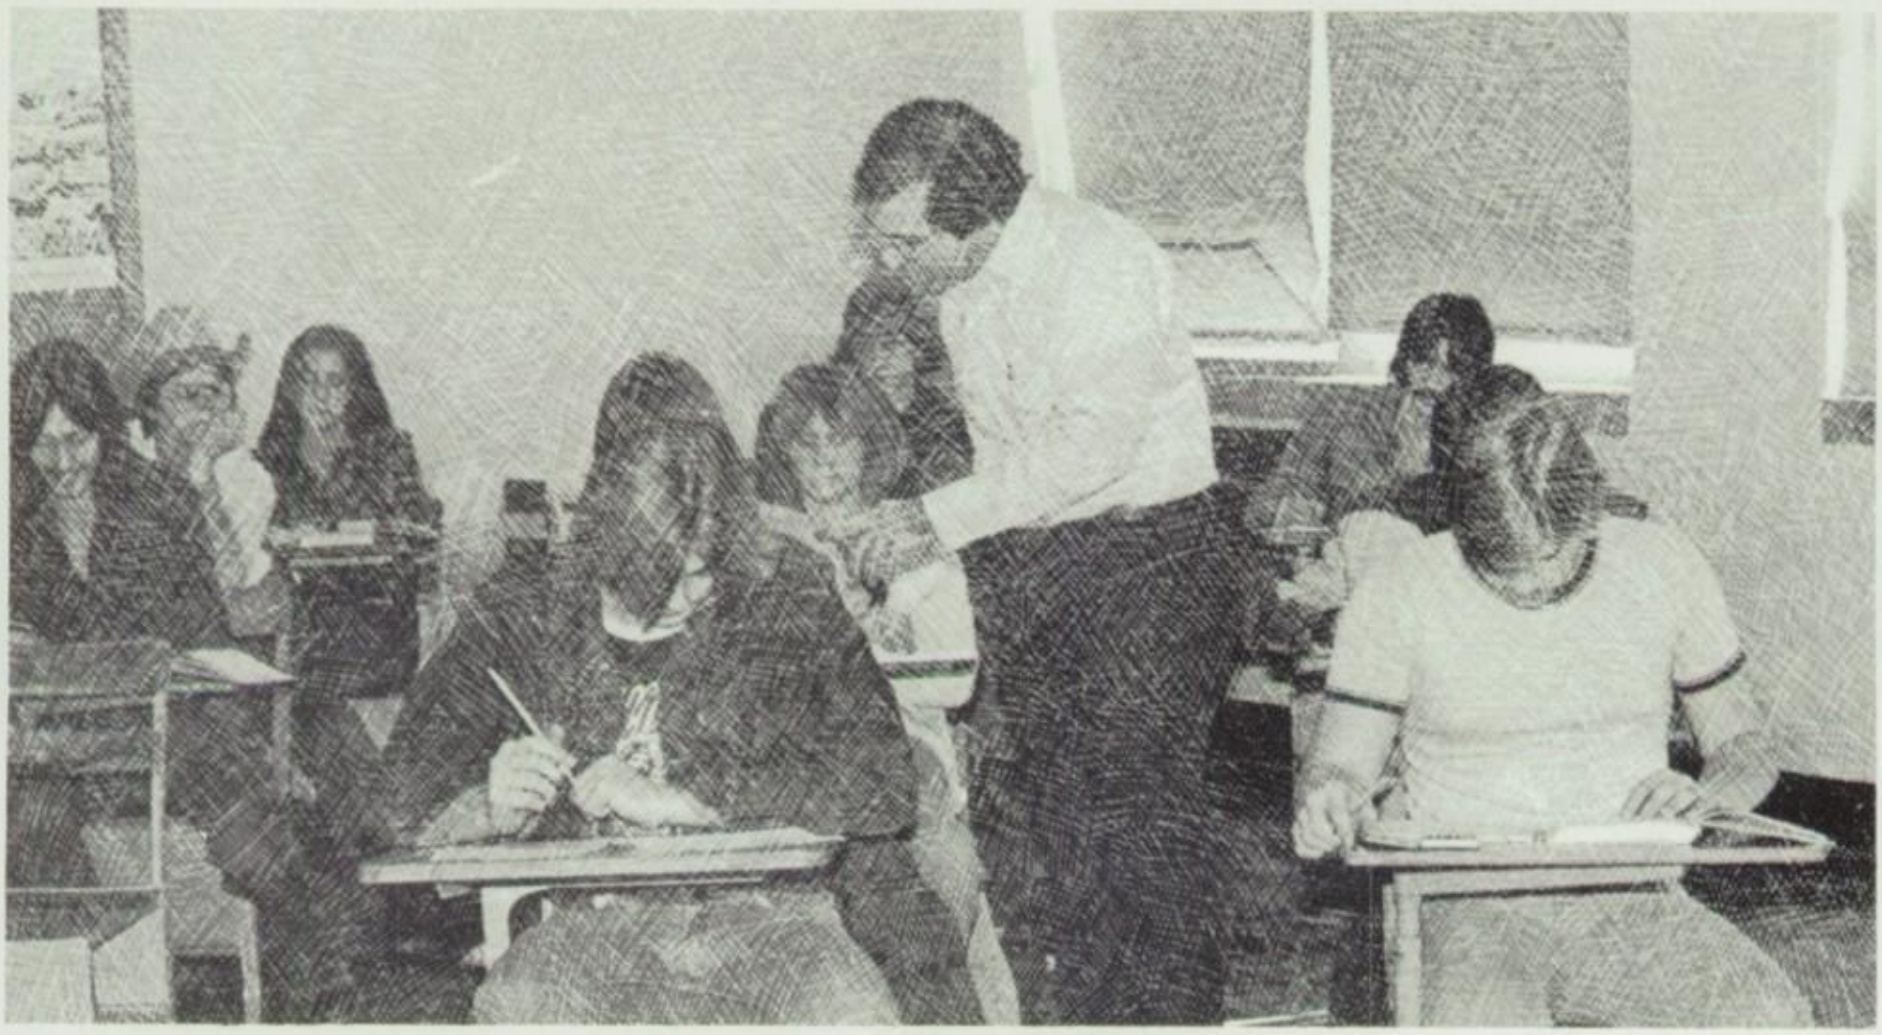
STAFF



Webster's dictionary defines dedication as "being devoted to a purpose." How does that apply to Ritenour's faculty? We have many dedicated teachers at Ritenour — teachers who truly care about what students learn and how this information benefits them. What distinguishes a teacher who is genuinely dedicated to his students from one who is not? A dedicated teacher doesn't just speak to the intelligent students in each class and pass off the others as not being worth his time. Instead, he challenges the more advanced students and gives extra help to those who are not as advanced. A dedicated teacher doesn't just teach from a book, movie, or other classroom media; he reaches beyond the books, teaching students using personal experiences and explanations and leaving them with a learning experience they will remember for life.

The effects of dedicated teachers reach not only into the immediate future, as in college or career, but far into the student's future when the benefits of an education are realized. In high school students are forming personality traits and patterns for living; therefore, what pupils are exposed to during these years is critical to what kind of people they will be. If a teacher can give a student confidence that he can learn new ideas and overcome problems, it can have a great bearing on his future. In college and career he will understand that he has the capacity to learn and the ability to succeed. A teacher who is dedicated gives students a positive attitude toward school and learning that keeps some students from dropping out of high school or deciding not to continue their education following graduation.

A dedicated teacher believes in what is being taught and makes students believe that it is equally important for them to learn it. A dedicated teacher becomes involved in his classes and puts an effort into teaching each class, whether he has three or five classes in one day. A dedicated teacher can perhaps best be appreciated in the years after graduation

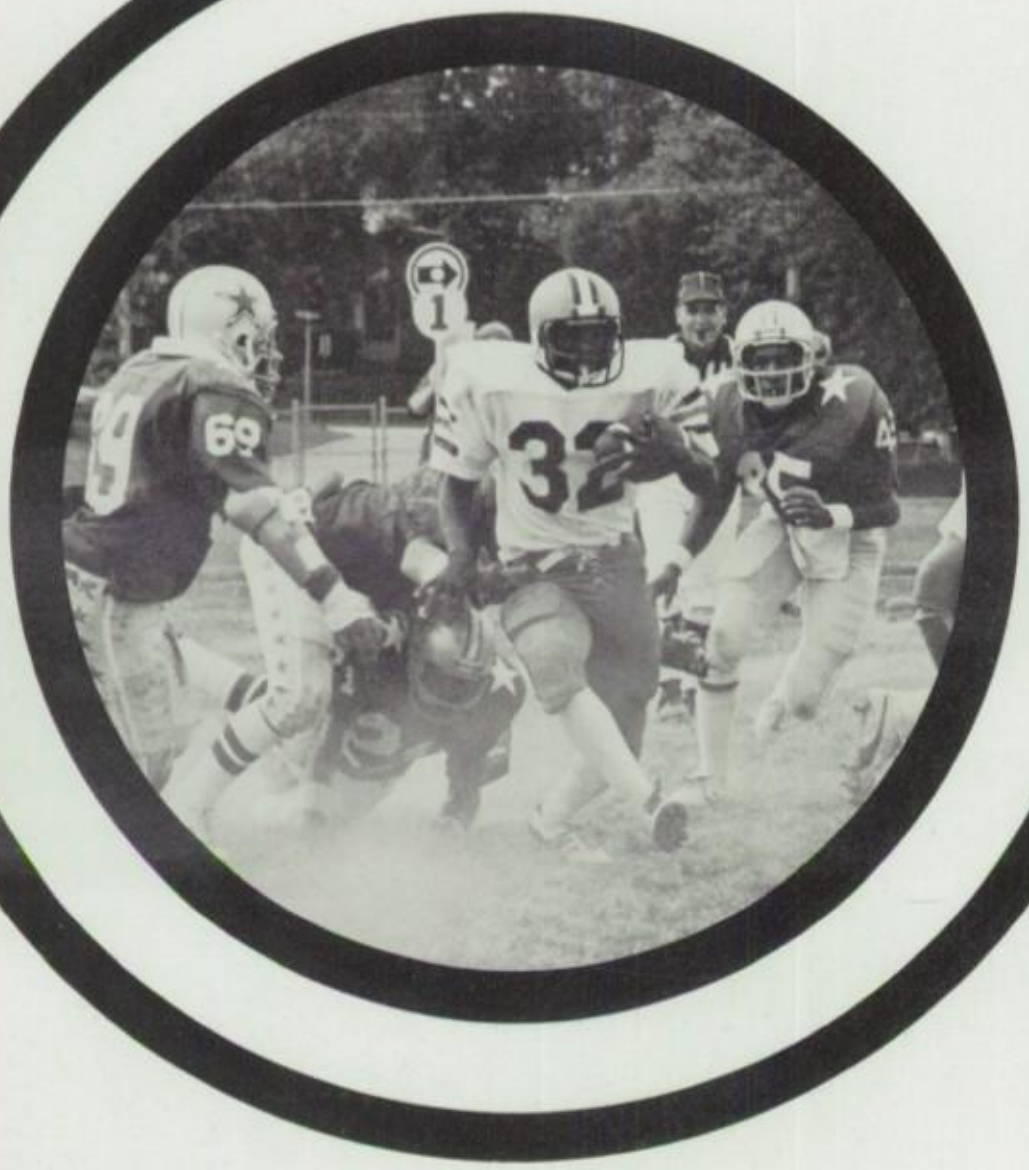
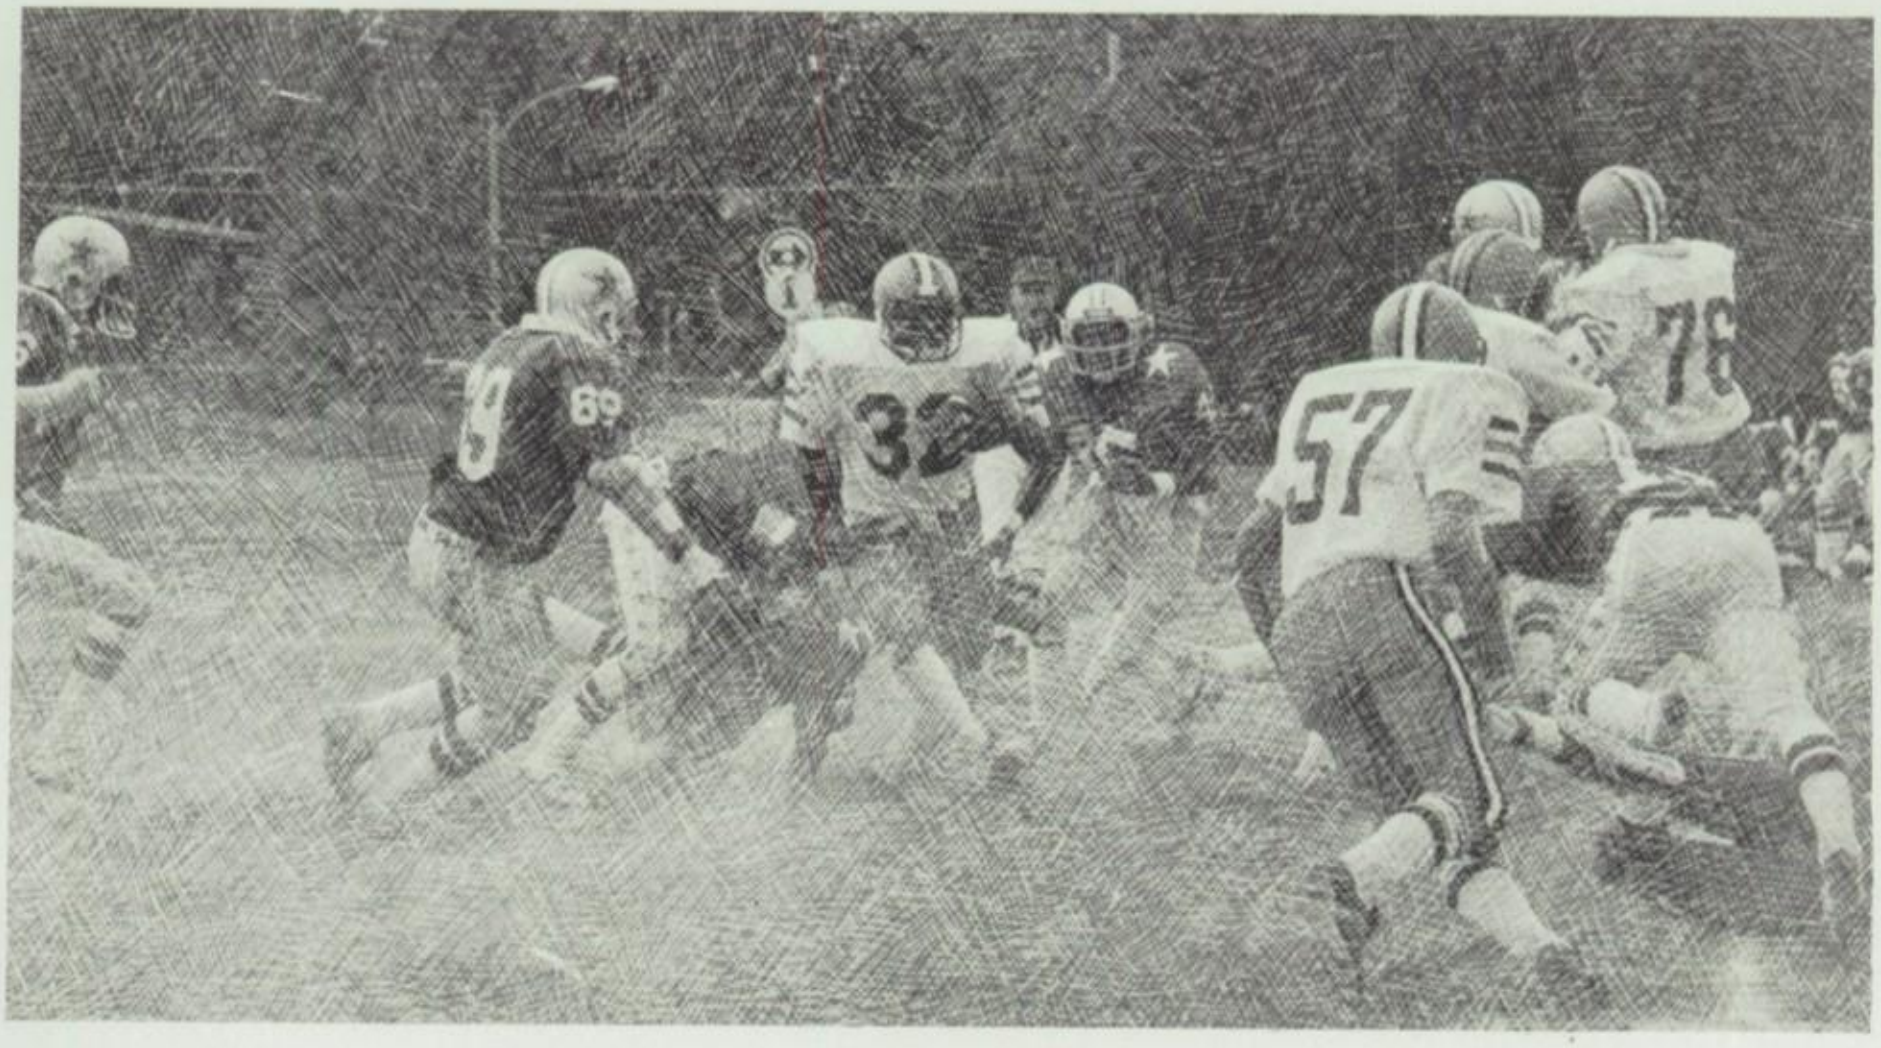
SPORTS





Dedication is a term perhaps better known to an athlete than to anyone else. Although a dedicated high school athlete is not very common, when a coach finds one, he is overjoyed. A dedicated high school athlete is a person who puts the welfare of the team ahead of his own. He is more concerned with the people around him than with his own glory.

He is not necessarily a "massive hunk of body" or the star of the team. Instead, he takes his raw talents and develops them to the fullest. He is the one that is seen working after practice to make himself better. He even works on weekends and his vacations. He never grows tired because of the immense love for his sport. In practice and in games, he always gives 100%. He is able to ignore the peer pressure around him and do what he knows will help him and his team. He doesn't worry about being called a "jock" because he realizes that different people enjoy doing different things.

He knows that athletics aren't for everyone, and that smoking and drinking aren't for him. People look up to him when he accomplishes a goal which he had previously set, especially if it is during a state tournament final or another major tournament. People envy his talents and wish they were like him even though they aren't willing to put forth the effort that he does. He affects his teammates by making them work harder and making them want to share in his glory. With the team working harder, they will improve. This improvement makes everyone involved feel better because they have accomplished something.

A dedicated athlete has to have a special quality to achieve his goals. He has to have a "spark" inside him that makes him go. Dedication is something that he is, more or less, born with; it is evidenced by the great sacrifices he makes. Not very many people are willing to make these sacrifices.

Huskies Hang Tough

Two games into the 1980 football season, one might have predicted a repeat of 1978's winless season for the Ritenour Huskies. After all, a close home opening setback to Parkway North was followed by a crushing 47-0 defeat, including the loss of two quarterbacks, to Hazelwood East. But Ritenour's team was not ready to throw in the towel that early in the season. In fact, the Huskies went on to win three out of their next four games.

Much of the credit for Ritenour's ability to bounce back has to be given to senior Paul Roberts who was able to move into the quarterbacking job upon the season-ending injury to Jon Fulton. Roberts' daring execution on the option play created some of the most exciting football played by a Ritenour team in years. Important contributions were also made by Gary Gearhardt, Keith Silvus, Kevin Snow, Eric Godi, and sophomore L. C. Robinson.

Young Team

The 1980 cross country team, composed mainly of juniors and sophomores, really came through with a successful season. At the larger invitational meets the team scored well, especially at Ladue and Hazelwood West where they placed 8th out of 24 teams and 12th out of 34. The Huskies continued their outstanding tradition in dual and tri-meets by finishing with a 4-1 record.

Contributing much to the success of the team were Joe Leutchmann and Ken Barnes. Both runners, although underclassmen, qualified for the state meet. Unfortunately, Barnes suffered a stress fracture during the regional meet and was unable to compete at state.

With Leutchmann, Barnes, and a number of other runners returning in 1981, Ritenour's great record in cross country should continue to grow.

Field Hockey Travels Far

Most of Ritenour's athletic teams, as a result of playing in the Suburban North Conference, usually do not have to travel very far for their contests. This is not the case with the girls' field hockey team. Since there is only one conference in the St. Louis area, Ritenour found itself traveling far and wide in search of games. Trips to such places as Granite City, Bayless, and Lindbergh meant many hours on the bus.

Unfortunately, many of these long trips were not rewarded with victories as the girls finished with a 2-12 record. According to Mrs. Stokes, the record did not reflect the hard work and dedication put in by the team.

Triple The Pleasure

The girls' volleyball team had every reason to believe that the 1980 season would be much more successful than the year before. After all, a number of experienced players such as Carol Barth, Kathy Macke, Jeanne Brown, Sue Smith, Christy Howarth, and Debbie Sawyer were returning this year. Nine victories during the season, three times the number of wins in 1979, plus 4th place finish in the league proved the girls to be right.

Next year even more improvement may be expected from the Husky volleyball team. Even though the squad is losing a number of its key players, the junior varsity team, led by Loretta Szydlowski, Ronnette Badolato, and Mariann Travis, finished with a 12-2 record and the league championship.

Best Record Since 1975

The soccer team's great 1980 season, highlighted by the runner-up spot in the Suburban North League Tournament, was not accomplished by pure luck. Finishing with the second most victories in Ritenour's soccer history and best record since 1975, the Huskies proved that hard work and great team effort will usually result in victories. Included in the 15-7-1 record were an amazing 12 shut-outs.

All of the players did a great job, but special recognition should go to John Lindsay for being selected to the all-conference team, as Ritenour's most valuable player, and as second team all-state. A considerable contribution was also made by Steve Candela, Tom Donovan, Dennis Behlmann, Dave Bleile, Tom McKay, and Dave Walters. All of these players received some type of all-conference recognition. Amazingly, goalie Ken Dowling, who played a major part in recording the 12 shut-outs, was overlooked by the all-conference teams.

Freshman Stars

Possibly the brightest star in the history of Ritenour Girls' Tennis emerged this year; and, to add to her luster, she was only a freshman. Her name is Priti Surappa; and she became the first Husky tennis player, girl or boy, to win the first flight singles at the Suburban North Conference Tournament. Priti also received Ist team all-conference honors as well as finishing 3rd in the district tournament.

A number of other girls also made important contributions to the success of the squad. Singles players Charla Lord and Stephanie Wrosch, as well as doubles players Kim Richardson, Anne Szydlowski, Amy Fels, and Betty Council, all placed in the league meet.

Best Record Ever

The 1980-81 boys' swim team had every reason to brag about being the best swim team in the school's history. After all, their 8-7 record not only represented the most victories by a Husky team, but also the first time Ritenour has won more meets than it lost in a single season.

Team records were not the only ones broken this year as virtually every individual mark was smashed. Most of the damage to the record books was inflicted by Gene Edmiston, Keith Silvus, Todd Morton, Bob Swain, and Jerry Bone.

Hustle

What are some of the qualities that make a good basketball team? Speed, good shooters, and height are sure to be on most coaches' list. One other quality that is also very important is hustle. In fact, some say that it can make up for a lack in other areas. Even though it would be unfair to criticize Ritenour's shooting or team speed, it was obvious that the team lacked the height to compete in the tough Suburban North Conference. Realizing this from the start, the Huskies overcame this problem in a number of games as a result of outstanding hustle. Even though they didn't win all of these contest, they produced a number of fine efforts that were appreciated by the fans.

Several of the team's players received individual honors at the end of the season. Tom Kalish, captain, was voted most devoted team member, Kevin Ransom was named most valuable, and Troy Branstetter was the most improved player for the 1980-81 season.

Frustration!

Sometimes it is hard to describe the feelings of a team that has just finished the season with a 3-20 record. Especially one that had an outstanding 17-7 slate the year before. Frustration more that any other word probably summed up the reaction of both the coaches and players on the girls' basketball team. Hoping to duplicate last year's record, the girls never seemed to get on the right track.

A fine Junior Varsity team, finishing their season with an 11-5 record, hopefully will help Ritenour return to its winning ways during the 81-82 season.

Great Individuals Produce Outstanding Team Effort

The 1981 wrestling team accomplished a number of goals this year including championships in the Ritenour Tournament, Parkway Central Quad, Parkway South Quad, and a tie for first in the tough Suburban North League Conference. These accomplishments, plus a great dual meet record of 10-1, were earned not only through outstanding team work, but also super individual efforts.

A number of Ritenour wrestlers including John Beaudoin, Jeff Beaudoin, Fred Cantley, Gary Gearhardt, Marvin Lee, Dan Raney, and Mike Wood won more than twenty victories during the season. Eric Burgner placed fifth while Fred Cantley finished sixth in the state tournament; Gary Gearhardt also became the first Ritenour wrestler in seven years to win an individual championship at Granite City.

Rebuilding Year For Girls

Every coach knows the value of having experienced athletes, especially seniors, on one's team. Unfortunately, Coach Phillips did not enjoy this luxury during the 1981 season. With only two seniors on the girls' swim team it is easy to understand why the squad was only able to win one meet during the year.

Even though their efforts were not as successful as the girls would have liked, a number of individuals were honored by their teammates at the conclusion of the season. Anna Funck was selected as the Most Valuable Senior while other awards went to Julie Stahlschmidt, Most Valuable Junior; Vicki Hoehn, Most Valuable Sophomore; and Gail Gendron, Hardest Worker.

Fast Start For Boys

After winning 4 of their first 5 meets, the boys' tennis team might have envisioned a record year for the number of victories in a season. But tougher opponents the second half of the schedule produced only one win. Still, a 5-7 record stands as one of the better marks in Ritenour tennis history.

On an individual basis Jay Davis and Jim Barnes probably produced the best results. Both of these players performed at a .500 pace for the campaign.

Track Records Fall

A number of Ritenour boys' track records fell by the wayside during the 1981 season. New record holders included Ken McNair, 300 yard intermediate hurdles; Jacque Martin, 880 yard run; and Joe Leuchtman, 6 mile run. Probably the most impressive record breaking performance was turned in by William Johnson who shattered the Husky high jump mark with a leap of 6 feet 9¼ inches. A number of sophomore records were also broken during the year.

The team as a whole had a good year, finishing in the top 5 in a number of prestigious meets such as the Clayton Invitational, Holmes Invitational, Vianney Relays, and the district meet.

Lack Of Offense

Success in most, if not all, sports depends on the ability of team members to master the various phases of the game. Unfortunately, for the girls' softball team, the squad was not able to master the skill of hitting. If the girls could have hit as well as they played defense, they might have reversed their 4-10 record.

At least one of the Husky players was able to master the skill of hitting. Sue Smith, selected as the Best Offensive Player, hit over .300 during the season. Other individual honors went to Linda Montalbano, Most Valuable Player; Jeanne Brown, Most Improved; and Joan James, Best Defensive Player.

Huskies Send Two To State

For the second straight year Ritenour golfers Steve Krumrey and John Briggs qualified for state tournament. This year the Huskies accomplishments were even more impressive as both Steve and John tied for the district championship and then tied again for seventh place at the state meet. This was the highest finish in Ritenour golf history in state competition.

Finishing with a 12-3 record for the season, others also contributed to Ritenour's success. Ron Holzum, Mike Graff, Jim Pyatt, and Chris Smith helped the team finish third in the conference and district.

Conference Champions

After two years of frustration because they finished second in conference, the 1981 Husky baseball team not only won the conference championship but also added the district title to their honors. Completing a 15-4 season, the team was ranked in the top ten in the St. Louis area for most of the spring.

One didn't have to look far to discover the reason for Ritenour's success. the Huskies combined solid hitting with steady pitching during most of the campaign. In fact, no fewer than 5 Ritenour players, Dave Welling, Mike Parson, John Lindsay, Kent Rau, and Doug Parker hit over .350 for the season. The pitching staff was led by Parson's 4-0 record along with Steve Hahn at 3-1, John Helfrick at 2-1, and Dennis Behlmann at 2-0.

Giblin Stars For Girls' Track Team

The 1981 girls' track team enjoyed a fine 7-4 dual and tri-meet record although they didn't fair quite as well in some of the bigger tournaments. These results can be explained by the fact that the Husky squad had a number of good track athletes, who were able to score a lot of points in the smaller meets, but lacked the "stars" who could score well in the big events.

The one star the girls did have was Micki Giblin. She qualified for the state track meet in both the 100 and 200 yard dashes as well as being selected to the all conference 1st team. Other team members who performed well during the season were Sharon Fisher, Tonya Bailey, Anetia Sanders, and Beverly Jordan.

Lack Of Depth

Even though a couple of members of the gymnastic team had outstanding seasons, the squad as a whole suffered from a lack of depth. With only 15 girls the team was unable to win a meet due to the fact that they didn't have enough girls to put in all of the events.

Senior Donna Westhoff, the squad's Most Valuable Gymnast, and junior Karen Kuhlmann were very successful in the optionals. Other girls with a good years included Suzy Black, Joan Edmiston, and Sue Carrion.

Overtime Blues

The difference between a fair season and a good one for the 1981 girls' soccer team (the squad finished with a 5-10-4 record) might have been the Huskies' inability to win more of their overtime games. Winning only one of these extended contests prevented the girls from approaching a .500 season.

However, a number of individuals had good seasons as Carol Barth and Suzy Fortune made the all conference team while Mary Westrich and Dana Hampton received honorable mention recognition. Dana Hampton also led the team in scoring.

GROUPS

A dedicated student participant is a person who places equal importance on school work and activities. For a dedicated student participant, school doesn't last from 8:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. or Monday through Friday. Instead, he stays after the bonfire to set up for the homecoming dance, finishing just in time to go work on his class float. A dedicated student participant doesn't attempt to achieve popularity by getting involved. On the contrary, sometimes he loses popularity because of devotion to a project. He is only trying to do the best job he can. He is not the type of person to give up; he will see projects through to their finish.

A dedicated student participant doesn't actively join in only one organization and activity. He will enthusiastically devote his time to three or four different organizations and activities. He is the type who will rush to a pep club meeting, then to a senior class meeting, and finally to a KRSH meeting. Being a dedicated participant isn't all glamour either. Sometimes he must scrape and paint bleachers, scrub a storeroom floor, dismantle a class float, or carry soda cases to the storage room. His most important quality, though, is his balance between school work and extracurricular activities. A dedicated participant must also be a dedicated student who keeps up his grades and succeeds in all academics.

The dedicated participant also affects the people he is working with. He inspires others to get involved, setting an example for his peers to follow.

STUCO

With support from both students and teachers, Student Council again had a very successful year. Such support resulted in a number of new projects: warm fuzzies, a Christmas Assembly, two Hoedowns, and homeroom Easter baskets. However, traditional programs like Homecoming, the Christmas Door Decorating Contest, and Teacher Appreciation Week were carried out with the usual enthusiasm.

Within Student Council, workshops were held for the representatives in an attempt to give them a clearer view of the function of the council. These workshops included guest speakers, lessons on parliamentary procedure, film strips and boundary breaking games. The meetings moved more smoothly and representatives' attitudes improved as a result of these programs.

Within the school, Student Council expressed their appreciation to the Ritenour faculty for their constant help and support. Teachers were presented with Christmas stockings, Valentine boxes, and Shamrocks and mints to liven up their holidays. Secret Pals, an Activity Night, and Teacher Appreciation Week also helped Student Council to show its sincere appreciation to the staff.

Within the community, Ritenour again played a major role. Student Council performed such service projects as a Senior Citizens' Dinner, an Underprivileged Children's Dinner, the Muscular Dystrophy Volleyball Tournament, the Multiple Sclerosis Drive, and the Red Cross Blood Drive. Both students and community members benefited from these successful programs.

Cheerleaders and Pep Club Work Together

The cheerleaders and Pep Club never have worked closer together as they did this year. Many of the spirit activities such as painting posters, raising money for pep buses, and sponsoring assemblies, were accomplished through a joint effort during the 80-81 school year. The reasons for this close relationship between the two groups, besides the fact that they are both in the business of promoting school spirit, might be due to the large number of cheerleaders who were active in Pep Club and both groups had the same sponsor.

Another noticeable change in the spirit groups was the increase involvement of Ritenour's male population. In fact, Craig Wagoner served as president of Pep Club while Mr. Phillips helped sponsor both groups.

No Rain On Their Parades

Congratulations to the Ritenour Marching Band. They really deserve it after being chosen as the best overall band at both the St. Patrick's Day Parade and Kirksville's Homecoming Parade for the second consecutive year. The band also marched in the Veiled Prophet and Ritenour's Homecoming parades, as well as performing at all the Huskies' home football games.

All of the 79 members of the band, directed by Mr. Tony Debo, marched, played, and practiced constantly in order to do the best job possible representing Ritenour Senior High.

"Gotta Dance"

This year the Rhythmettes really showed that they've got what it takes when it comes to jumping, kicking, and dancing. All the girls showed great school spirit while participating in home sports events such as football games, basketball games, and wrestling meets. Also they marched in several parades including the Veiled Prophet, and St. Patricks Day Parades, Kirksville's Homecoming Parade, and Ritenour's own Homecoming Parade.

Shelly Evans added a special feature to several of the above events with her talent as Ritenour's own majorette.

Close To Home

Even though the Concert and Stage Bands were very busy in 1980-81, they, for the most part, stayed close to home. The Fall, Christmas, Winter, and Spring Concerts provided Ritenour residents with a great deal of musical enjoyment.

The Concert Band did travel to Hazelwood Centeral in May for the Suburban North Band Festival, while the Stage Band, best known for its enthusiastic support at basketball games, visited district grade schools.

Mrs. Stainbrook Takes Over

Due to the departure of Mr. Porter in December, the Ritenour Orchestra found itself with a new conductor, Mrs. Sue Stainbrook. Of course, Mrs. Stainbrook, as a result of teaching at Ritenour Junior and assisting the orchestra during the past couple of years, was not entirely new to the students. Under Mrs. Stainbrook's direction the group continued its record of outstanding performances with a number of concerts, the musical, and at a music festival held at Normandy in April.

On Their Own

How can a Flag Corps perform without flags? They have to have a little ingenuity and a lot of spirit. This was only one of the problems that the new organization faced early this year. This was the first year the Flag Corps had a separate sponsor, title, and identity from the Ritenour Marching Band.

The 14 girls on the squad led the band through all football games, parades, and other home activities. This year's Flag Corps, with their new flags and uniforms, made an outstanding impression for our school.

In Demand

Whenever a musical group is in great demand, it usually means a lot of work and a great deal of travel. This is the position that Ritenour's Acappela Choir found itself in this year. The group was invited to such places as S. I. U. Edwardsville, the Ritenour Community Thanksgiving Observance, Lindenwood College, Overland Baptist Church, district grade schools, and Kansas City.

The Choir also kept very busy around Ritenour. The musical, concerts, National Honor Society Induction, a Christmas assembly, an exchange with Southeast Missouri State University, and graduation gave everyone at Ritenour many opportunities to enjoy Ritenour's Acappela Choir.

More Than Fall Play

The most important activity of the Drama Club this year, as it is every year, was the production of the annual Fall play. Many hours of hard work and practice went into making it a success. But the Drama Club does more than just present one play a year. This year's group also provided a very entertaining skit for the Underprivileged Children's Dinner, a Reader's Theater Show for the Jewish Center for the Aged, as well as skits for district grade schools.

Event Of The Month Club

No one can accuse the German Club of being an inactive group. Holding at least one activity every month, and in some cases two, members of the club found themselves very busy. Not only did the Deutscher Verein, that's German for German Club, hold a large number of events, but also a wide variety of activities. Everything from swim parties, bowling, float trips, a "Pig Out" at Baskin Robbins, and meals at German restaurants made the German Club one of the most active organizations at Ritenour.

Media Masters

Ritenour's Media Center contains a vast number of books, magazines, filmstrips, and video tapes as well as the equipment to use these items. The media center is operated with the help of a number of student workers, under the directionof Mrs. Bracken, Dr. Underwood, and Mrs. Ruminer, whose job it is to help others in finding or using whatever it is they need from the center. Without these dedicated students, many of the advantages that are offered in Ritenour's library might be overlooked.

Country Girls

The Ritenour Girls' Athletic Club definitely had a western flavor to its activities this year. In the Fall, the girls began the year with a hayride, and then in the "Spring their annual fashion show had "Western Roundup" for its theme. Once again at Christmas club members sold Santa Grams in order to raise money for various R.G.A.C. activities.

DeLaney Says . . .

In the past the W.O.W. Committee has used a number of gimmicks in order to promote its crusade to wipe out waste at Ritenour. The group has painted trash cans, built Homecoming floats, painted a mural in the cafeteria, and even adopted a mascot, DeLaney The DeLitter Bug, in an attempt to get its message across. This year W.O.W. invented a slogan campaign in order to clean up Ritenour's campus. The slogan, DeLaney Says, was to be completed by the students with a phrase that dealt with wiping out waste. Even though the idea didn't become as popular as the club envisioned, more progress towards cleaning up Ritenour was accomplished.

Even Exchange

It is often said in the sports world that the best trades are the ones that work out for both teams. If that is true, then Ritenour's A.F.S. Club was involved in a perfect exchange this year, not for players but for students. Two Ritenour students, Helen Steele and Dawn Lewis, spent the school year in foreign countries while in return Ritenour received Ana Lee from Portugal and Ale Jiminez from Costa Rica.

Once again in 1980-81 the club members kept busy with activities such as International Day, exchanges with other area high schools, and dinners with the adult chapter. They also raised money to support the program by selling candy, valentines, and presenting the A.F.S. Talent Show.

Ana

Once again in 1980-81, Ritenour hosted two foreign exchange students. Ana Lee, an 18 year old girl from Portugal, spent the year with the Max Bell family. Ana, who speaks 5 languages, found the school system at Ritenour totally different from those in Portugal. But according to Ana, "I liked the large variety of courses and sports."

Ale

Ritenour's other foreign student, also an 18 year old girl, was Alejandra Jiminez from San Jose, Costa Rica. Ale, as all of her friends called her, loves to dance and listen to music. After returning to Costa Rica, she plans to find a job where she can use her experience in the United States. Even though she enjoyed the year she spent living with the Dan Adams family, Ale did admit to missing the white sandy beaches of her native country.

Pepper Box

The Pepper Box, the school newspaper, is produced by a staff of students as an extra-curricular activity. Throughout the year the students researched and wrote news and feature stories, took photographs, drew layouts, and corrected proofs. All stories were obtained through interviews and research conducted in school.

Unfortunately, the staff, led by editor Dave Strobl, produced only three issues. Other members of the staff included Barb Darrough and Gregg Vanover, assistant editors; Peggy O'Farrell and Kelly McFarland, feature editors; Phil Junger and Alana Allen, sports editors; Christy Christopher, Greg Nolen, and Sam Sanders, reviewers; John Lodes, Susan Hofmann, Ana Lee, and Kathy Scott, writers.

Senior Staff

The Déjà staff, consisting mainly of seniors, has been working hard this year not only to bring Ritenour a good magazine, but also to break in a new sponsor, Mr. Arnold Robin, and a new staff for future years. Besides putting together student's poems, the magazine obtains advertising, sponsors a short story contest, collects senior wills, and publishes a senior poll. Everything considered, the staff, agrees whether reading it or putting it together, Déjà VU is an experience.

Devotion, Deadlines, And Dedication

Dedication and devotion describe the thirteen staff members who gave much time and effort to create the 1981 Melaureus.

Deadlines, rewrites, and endless challenges plagued the staff as they worked to produce a memorable yearbook for the students and teachers of Ritenour.

Was it all work? Of course not, many good times, laughs, and memories went into the production of this year's Melaureus. To everyone at Ritenour, "Thanks for the Memories!"

New Shows On KRSH

KRSH, Ritenour's very own 10-watt radio station, may not be very big but it sure has improved. Broadcasting from 3:00 p.m.-10:15 p.m. every week night during the school year, KRSH completed its fourth consecutive year on the air.

This year the staff added six new shows as well as covering 90% of all the major home sports events. They also covered the school musical, concerts, and Ritenour's Board of Education meetings. Controversial topics, such as abortion, were featured on Dialogue. A first this year was coverage of the political convention including an interview with former President Ford. Because of that interview, KRSH "scooped" a hot story.

Mary Martin, the station manager, believes that this year has definitely been a great improvement over last year. This was due to the staff members who worked so hard and gave reliable service to the station.

Speeches Highlight Honor Society Ceremony

The traditional processional of the 72 new National Honor Society members occurred on the evening of April 28, 1981. The opening address, given by Mr. A.K. Trautwein, and the speech by Mr. Bob Costas left many memorable impressions upon the minds of these honored seniors. This was indeed a very special night for these young adults, as they were recognized for their outstanding leadership, service, scholarship and character. This evening was highlighted by another traditional event, the candlelight ceremony. Also to be commended for their contributions to the investiture are the Ritenour Orchestra and Choir.

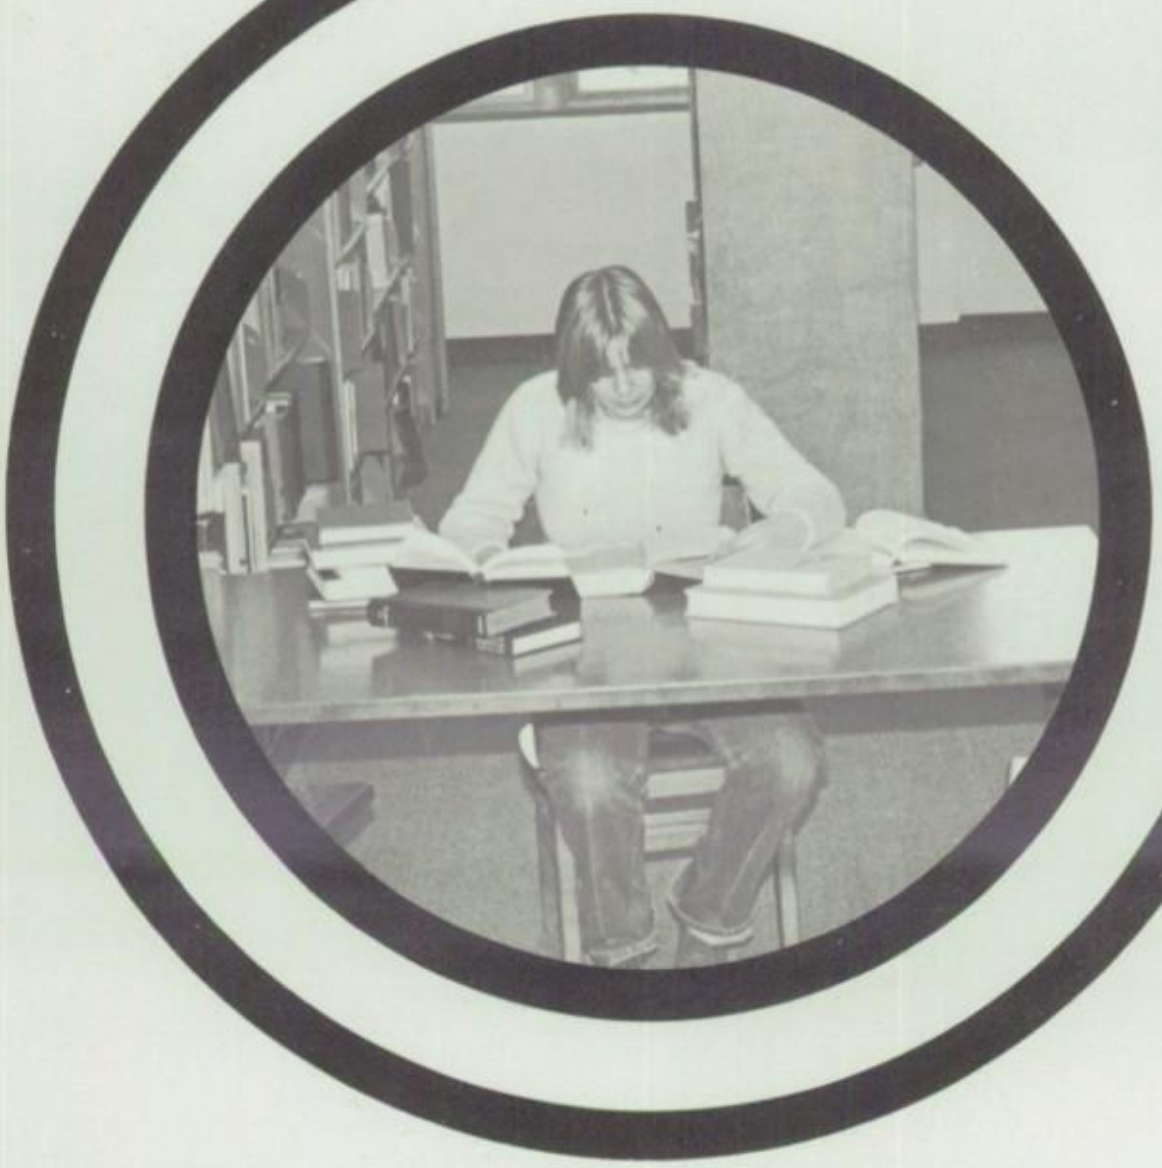
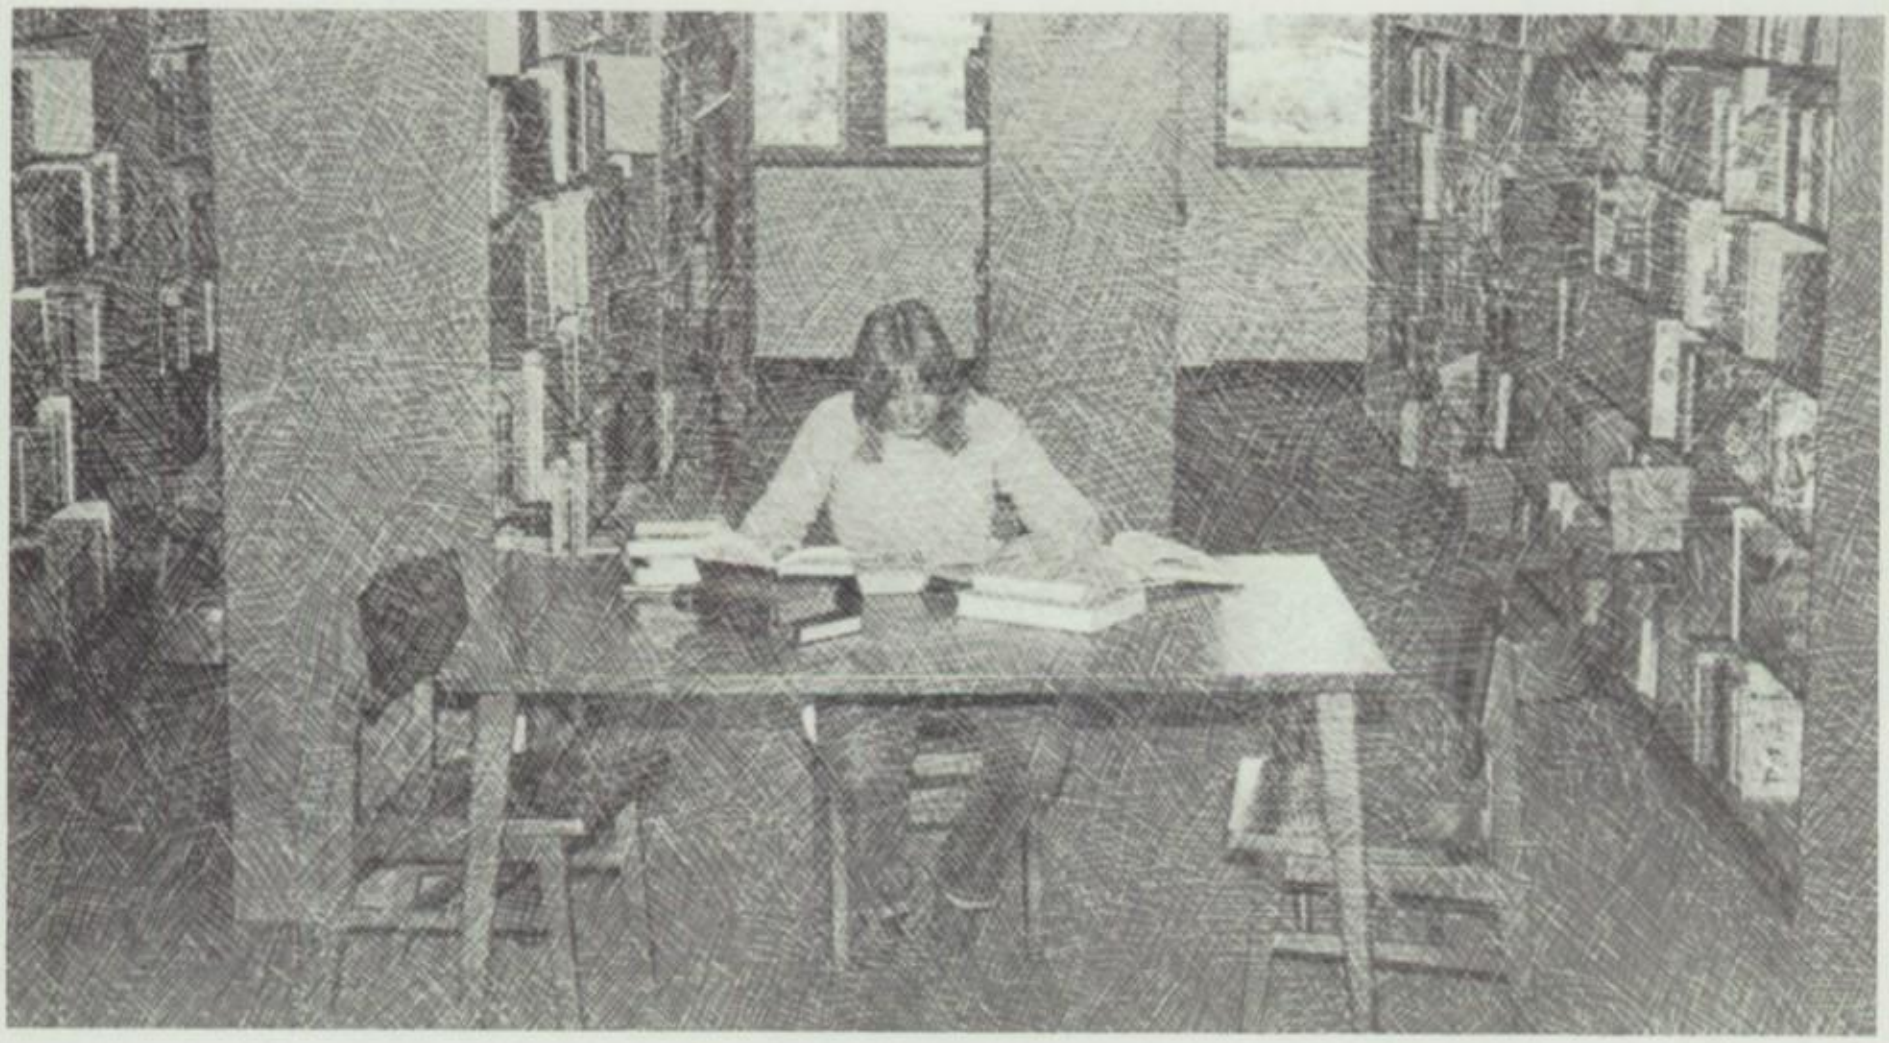
STUDENTS





A dedicated student is a person who places a strong emphasis on excellence in his school work. He sees this committment as the best way to ensure future success: acceptance into a good college, high achievement in that college, and finally the attainment of an interesting, high paying job enabling him to function effectively in the business or professional world.

A dedicated student is not strictly an "egghead" or "bookworm"; he knows that being able to communicate effectively and participating in extra-curricular activities are also important to success. One way a dedicated student may be recognized is by the courses he chooses to take. For example, he would probably not find room in his schedule for two hours of P.E. a day. Rather, he would take as much math, science, and English as he could fit in, knowing that he would be making things easier for himself later in college. Some students learn enough through advanced high school courses to test out of several college classes. Of course, one could be a dedicated student and not go to college. Such a student would take as many courses as possible relevant to the field he wished to go into.

A dedicated student cannot always be recognized by how much he studies; some people find that simply paying attention in class and doing the required homework are sufficient for high performance on tests and good overall grades. However, the benefits of being a dedicated student do not all go to himself; he has a positive influence on fellow students, the classroom, and the school. His high performance in class can motivate fellow students to work harder and improve their own grades. Dedicated students frequently participate actively in class, thus making it more interesting. Finally, the more dedicated students a school has, the better its image. To be a dedicated student requires some extra effort, but future rewards make the additional work well worth it.

In Memoriam:

Jeffrey C. Byers

There Have Been, And Will Continue To Be, Many Dedicated Students, Athletes, Leaders, And Teachers At Ritenour. But For One, 1981 Marks The End Of His Dedicated Service To The District. Thank You, Mr. Moore, For Everything; But, Most Of All, Thanks For Teaching Us The True Meaning Of Dedication.

RESPONSIBILITY

There's always a lot of talk about responsibility — in business, in governmental affairs, in family life.

Above all, your primary responsibility is to yourself and your loved ones. To get the most out of life. To provide the things you want. Responsibility to plan for your future.

At Home Federal, our responsibility is to our customers. When you're saving for college, or a new car. When you want to buy a home. When you want to invest in tomorrow's promise. We will help you achieve your goals.

The Home Folks invite you to discuss your plans with us. See how our responsibility to you helps fulfill your responsibility to yourself.

We would like to express our special thanks to the following people who gave us their assistance throughout the year.

Our thanks to Vincent Price Studio for doing a beautiful job.

We would also like to thank the American Yearbook Company for all of their help, especially Jim Combs, Doris Busch, and Chris Jensen.

Special thanks to Mr. Ken Phillips, faculty advisor for the 1981 Melaureus.
